

A FREE EVENT

Lincoln and King's Unfinished Work

This town hall, being held on Martin Luther King, Jr. Weekend, will look at President Lincoln's significant role in expanding the nation's definitions of freedom and equality of opportunity and Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.'s work in that tradition. And since this event is being held in "The Entertainment Capital of the World," it will also discuss the ways that words, entertainment, and the arts are – and can be – used to explore race and freedom in the United States.
